

Pioneer Heritage

Recommended Dried Care Instructions

Preserved and Dried flowers bring nature into any room!

Dried Flower Care

Preserved and dried flowers make stunning everlasting arrangements for your special events, home or office. We offer many decorative wreaths, floral swags and bulk preserved, and dried flowers to choose from and they can last for many years if properly cared for. Preserved arrangements last longer than dried arrangements, so it's essential to be gentle and care for them well for longevity.

Display

Always keep your preserved flowers indoors, out of the direct sunlight, heat and humidity. If you need to use them for an outdoor event, just be sure to minimize sun exposure and time outside if you plan to keep them later. Keeping your dried floral arrangements away from direct light sunlight, high humidity and heat conditions will greatly reduce the chances of color fading and or bleeding. It's best to display them where they will not be disturbed to reduce damage by getting bumped into.

Cleaning

To clean your floral arrangement there are some spray on cleaners made especially for dried floral arrangements that you may use. We do not recommend these for dyed preserved flowers. You may also use a hair dryer on 'cool' or 'no heat' setting and gently blow away the dust. A feather duster will work too, but can be risky for dried arrangements, so be gentle!

Storing

If you need to store your dried flower arrangements it's a good idea to retain the box it was shipped to you in, or another suitable box that will protect your arrangements. Carefully in boxes where they will not be crushed. Always store in a cool, dark, dry location and keep away from moisture.

We hope you enjoy your preserved and dried arrangements and we encourage you to visit us often for new design ideas and ready made designs for your decorating needs.